

Professional Skills and Ethics

Block-1 Unit-1

The Process of Communication_Part-1

Topics to be Covered

- Introduction
- Introduction: What is Communication?
- The Process of Communication
- Barriers to Communication
- Different Types of Communication
- Written vs. Oral Communication
- Summary

Introduction

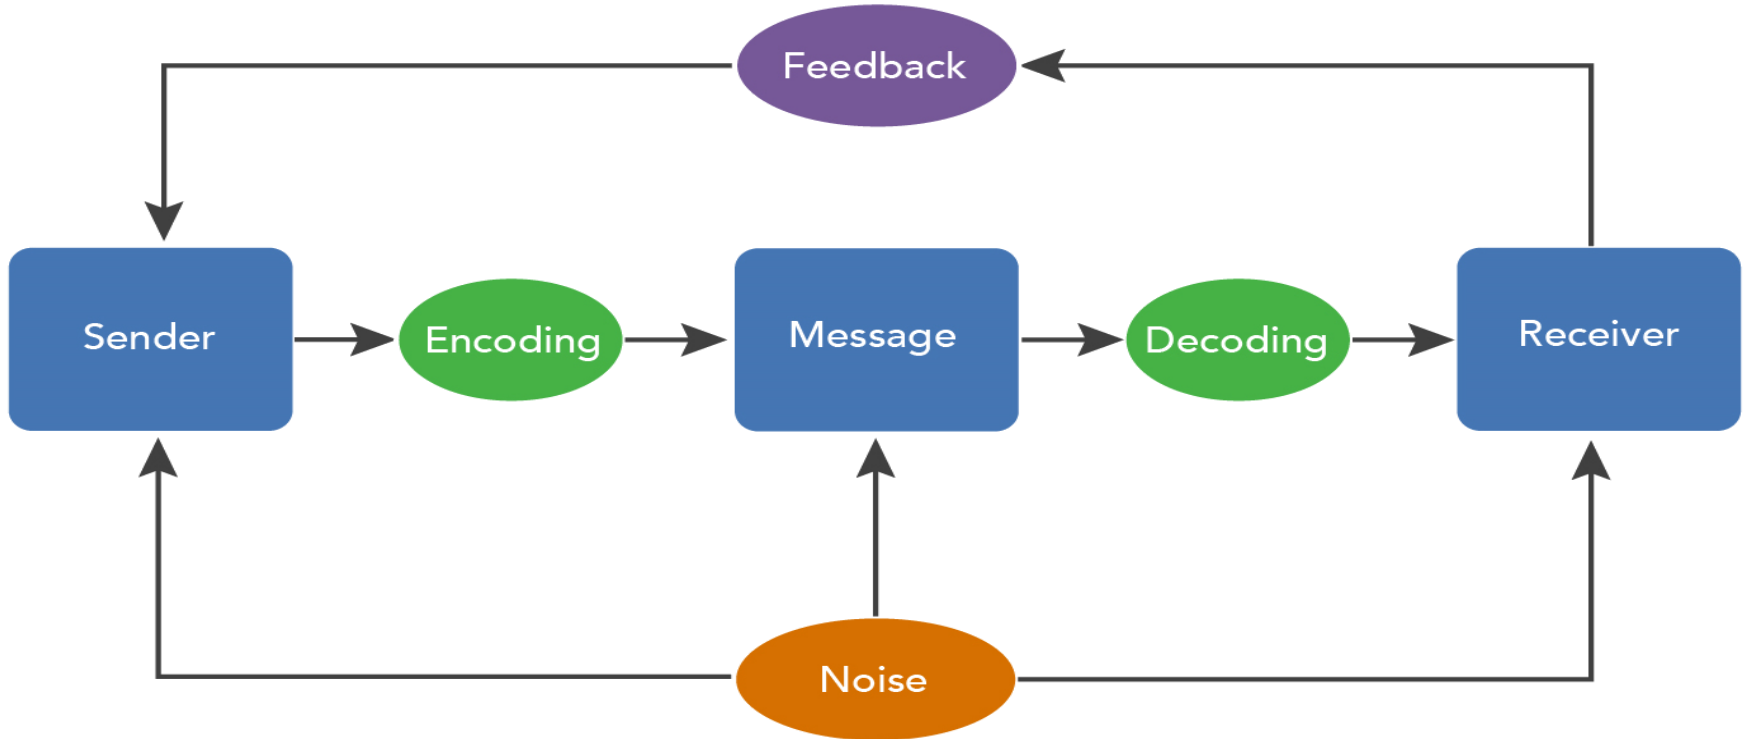

- After going through this session, we will Introduce you:
 - To some basic concepts in communication, its importance in business organizations, different types of communication.

Introduction: What is Communication?

- The dictionary definition is ‘to exchange (thoughts) or make known (information or feelings) by speech, writing or other means, to transmit’.
- Communication is more than just messaging or swapping information. It involves not just words, but the use of all our senses. With face-to-face dialogue, our facial expression, tone, body language, ability to listen with patience, all contribute to the conveying of messages and information between people.

The Process of Communication

The Process of Communication

Check Your Progress 1

- Look at the figure given above and try to answer the following questions:
 - 1) At least how many persons do you need for communication to take place?
 - 2) Can two people communicate if they do not share the same language?
 - 3) If your answer to Q2 above is 'yes', then explain how they will communicate.

The Process of Communication

- Elements of Communication
- If we look at the figure given above we can derive the elements of communication as follows:
 - 1) Communication involves at least two persons (a) The addresser(Sender) and (b) the addressee(Receiver).
 - 2) The topic: the contents of the message.
 - 3) The channel: the medium through which the message travels, e.g. letter, telephone, e-mail, etc.

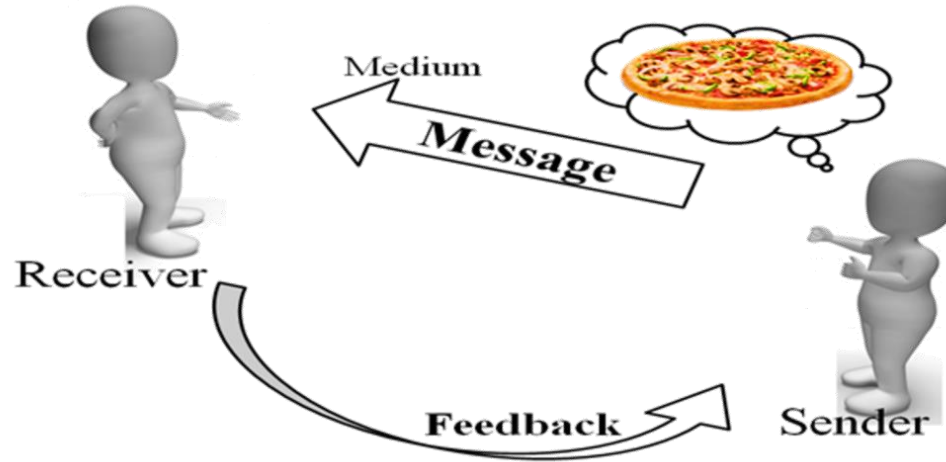

The Process of Communication

- Elements of Communication

- 4) The code: the language of the message e.g. English, French, Hindi, etc.
- 5) The message form: the selection of particular grammar and lexical choices of the message.
- 6) The setting: the social and physical setting.

The Process of Communication

- The Role of the Decoder
 - The process of decoding(listening/reading) by the addressee is not passive as some people think. His / Her role is an active one.

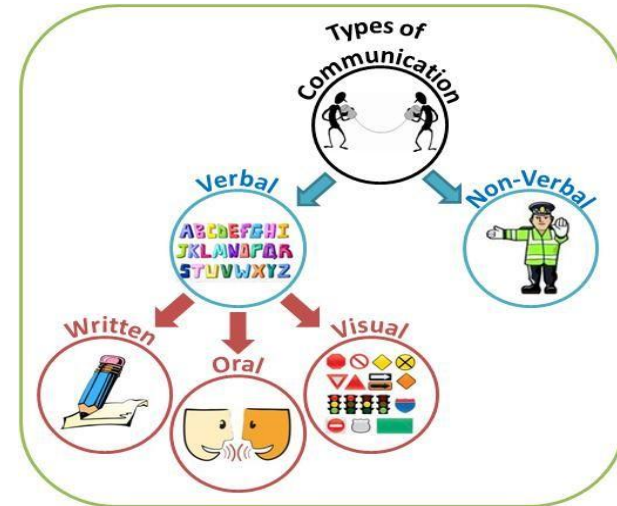

Barriers to Communication

- Communication can never be hundred per cent complete. Let us now consider some of these barriers:
 - a) Code (Language)
 - b) Vocabulary and Concept
 - c) Background knowledge and shared assumptions/
Preconception
 - d) Pronunciation, intonation, accent and stress
 - e) Physical environment
 - f) Personal factors e.g. anxiety, fear, attitude, motivation, beliefs, values, lack of mutual trust

Different Types of Communication

- Communication may be classified into several categories on the following bases:-
 - Expression: Written, oral and gestural
 - Flow: Internal (Vertical & Horizontal) and external
 - Relationship : Formal and informal

Written vs. Oral Communication

- When we speak of language as a tool for communication, we mean both spoken and written forms of the language. Both these modes can be used for communication.
- Both have their own advantages and disadvantages, Oral communication is quicker, more economical and more effective than written communication.
- Written communication ensures the transmission of information in a uniform manner.

Written vs. Oral Communication

Check Your Progress

Q. Which mode of communication would you adopt in the following cases:-

- a) The message is very urgent.
- b) The message is important and lengthy.
- c) The message sent should be available in the records.
- d) The information is to be sent to all employees in different branches.

Summary

- In this session we learnt:
 - What communication is and defined it as the process of meaningful interaction between two or more persons.
 - Communication can be achieved through use of language, written or spoken, and gestures.
 - There are different types of communication and these are used on different occasions.

*Thank
You*

Professional Skills and Ethics

Block-1 Unit-1

The Process of Communication_Part-2

Topics to be Covered

- Introduction
- Different Types of Face-to-Face Interactions
- Characteristics and Conventions of Conversation
- Conversational Problems of Second/Foreign Language Users
- Difference between Conversation and Other Speech Events
- Important Topics
- Summary

Introduction

- After going through this session, we will Introduce you:
 - To different modes to be used, and their comparative advantages and disadvantages.
 - To insights into strategies that are used for effective face-to-face communication.

Different Types of Face-to-Face Interactions

- The function of language where the transfer of information is involved is called transactional, and that function involved in expressing social relations and personal attitudes is called Interactional.

(a) A: There's no message for you (Transactional)

B: OK.

(b) A: How are you? (Interactional)

B: Fine, thank you.

Different Types of Face-to-Face Interactions

- In business transactions, different situations may arise when one has to use language for different types of face-to-face interactions:
 - (1) Conversation for establishing social contact
 - (2) Participating in discussions
 - (3) Taking part and conducting meetings and interviews
 - (4) Lecturing, demonstrating company's products
 - (5) Talking and describing work and business operations

Characteristics and Conventions of Conversation

The Cooperative and Politeness Principle

- Conversation is more than a series of exchanges

Characteristics and Conventions of Conversation

- Openings and Closings

- The openings and closings of conversations and other types of speech events are organized and orderly.
- Openings and closings are speech event-specific.

Characteristics and Conventions of Conversation

- Topic Development

- Another important dimension of conversational organization is the way topics are selected for discussion within and the strategies used by the speakers to introduce, develop, or change topics within the conversation.

Characteristics and Conventions of Conversation

- Turn Taking

- Conversation by definition involves two or more people.
- But the distribution of talking among the participants is not merely random.
- It is governed by turn-taking norms, conventions which determine who talks, when, and for how long.

Characteristics and Conventions of Conversation

- Repairs

- The process of conversation involves monitoring to ensure that the intended messages have been communicated and understood.
- The term-repair refers to the efforts by the speaker or the hearer to correct trouble spots in conversation.

Conversational Problems of Second/Foreign Language Users

- The proverbs and rules for conversation differ from culture to culture and hence generate problems for non-native speakers.
- There may be difference in the mother tongue and target language.
- Openings and closings are also problematic for foreign language learners. The learner may not know what to say and hence may just transliterate from his/her own mother tongue.

Conversational Problems of Second/Foreign Language Users

- Another important and very difficult area for the second/foreign language learner is topic development.
- You must practice introducing topics about which you are prepared to speak.
- You ought to practice predicting questions: elaborating topics, seeking clarifications, shifting topic, undertaking repairs through words and gestures, and several other conversational skills.

Difference between Conversation and Other Speech Events

- As speech events, conversations can be contrasted with other types of speech events such as lectures, discussions, meetings, interviews, debates, etc.
- Speech events, like conversations, also have identifiable rules for proper beginnings, middles and endings.
- Some speech events may not begin as soon as the required persons are present.

Important Topics

The Process of Communication

Barriers to Communication

Written vs. Oral Communication

Different Types of Face-to-Face Interactions

Conversational Problems of Second/Foreign Language Users

Difference between Conversation and Other Speech Events

Summary

- In this session we learnt:
 - Each mode of communication has its own advantages and disadvantages.
 - Communication may involve repeated interactions or negotiations of meaning and the addresser and the addressee play active roles in this process.
 - How to overcome all barriers to communication.
 - Different types of face-to-face interactions.

*Thank
You*

Professional Skills and Ethics

Block-1 Unit-3

Job Applications and Interviews

Topics to be Covered

- Introduction
- Warm Up
- Curriculum Vitae
- Language Focus: Some Useful Words
- Study Skills: Preparing for an Interview
- Speaking
- Writing
- Important Topics
- Summary

+91 – 9319133134, query@cftedu.in

Introduction

- After going through this session, we will learn:
 - How to write applications for jobs
 - How to write an effective Curriculum Vitae
 - How to prepare for job interviews
 - About useful vocabulary for CVs and interviews
 - About the kind of questions asked at interviews

Warm Up

Sales Executives (North)

For a

Leading Multinational Company

We are looking for excellent sales people with a proven track record for selling our full range of Consumer Durable products.

The position is based in Chandigarh and the candidate will be responsible for sales in Punjab and Haryana.

Experience of selling similar products is essential.

Remuneration is comparable with the best in the industry, and will be linked to performance.

Apply to Mr. Sudir Taneja

Personnel Executive,

XYZ Co.

+91 – 9319133134, query@cftedu.in

Warm Up

- a) What is the job mentioned in the advertisement?
- b) What is the salary being offered?
- c) Where is the job located?
- d) What kind of company is it?
- e) What qualities is the company looking for?

Curriculum Vitae

- The Curriculum Vitae or personal bio data is a statement of facts which includes a summary of your educational and academic backgrounds, research experience, work experience, awards, honors, skills, interests and other details. A good Curriculum Vitae should be:
 - Clear - well-organized and logical
 - Concise - relevant and necessary
 - Complete - includes everything you need
 - Consistent - doesn't mix styles or fonts
 - Current - up-to-date

Curriculum Vitae

Check Your Progress

Q. Write out your own CV, having 5 years of experience.

Ans. _____

Language Focus: Some Useful Words

- Here are some more words that could help you to describe your work better.

Achieved	researched	organized	coordinated
managed	supervised	classified	conceptualized
prepared	investigated	expedited	controlled
implemented	programmed	facilitated	forecasted
analyzed	assisted	broadened	overcame
created	designed	developed	established
scheduled	undertook	generated	presented
proposed	formulated	handled	integrated

Study Skills: Preparing for an Interview

- Some tips to help you prepare for an interview:
 - Go through the copy of your application carefully before the interview.
 - Be ready to provide examples to elaborate on information on your resume and application.
 - Be open and honest.
 - Be ready for questions based on the statement of purpose that you mentioned in your application.

Study Skills: Preparing for an Interview

- Some tips to help you prepare for an interview:
 - Watch your nonverbal clues, such as eye contact, posture, gestures and fiddling.
 - Be courteous with everyone.
 - Know your strengths and weaknesses.
 - Do some homework on the company and get as much information as possible about it.
 - Relate your skills with the position.

Study Skills: Preparing for an Interview

- Some tips to help you prepare for an interview:
 - Review skills and abilities questions.
 - Give a positive first impression which could include a warm handshake and a pleasant smile.
 - Show enthusiasm and interest.
 - Be as natural as possible.
 - Listen attentively. Don't interrupt the interviewer before he has completed the question.

Speaking

- Here are some samples of questions asked during job interviews. Think about possible answers.

Personal

- 1) Tell me about yourself.
- 2) Do you have any hobbies? What do you do in your spare time?

Speaking

Education

- 1) How do you think your education has prepared you for this position?
- 2) What were your favorite subjects/activities at school?

Speaking

Team Work

- 1) What are the characteristics of a successful team?
- 2) What qualities do you have that make you an effective team player?

Speaking

Strengths

- 1) What are your three greatest strengths?
- 2) What can you contribute to our organization?

Career Goals

- 1) Where do you want to be 5 years from now in your career?
- 2) What are your long term career goals?

Writing

Check Your Progress

Q. Write a letter to a professor asking him / her if you can mention him / her as a referee in your CV and whether he / she will be willing to provide a reference for you when needed.

Ans.....
.....
.....
.....

Important Topics

Curriculum Vitae

Language Focus: Some Useful Words

Study Skills: Preparing for an Interview

Speaking

Summary

- In this session we learnt:
 - Writing an effective letter of application for a job and a neat and meaningful CV are difficult skills to acquire.
- We also learnt to select and organize information in a C.V. and to create an attractive format.

*Thank
You*

Professional Skills and Ethics

Block-1 Unit-4

Group Discussions

Topics to be Covered

- Introduction
- Writing Skills
- Listening: How to be Successful in a Group Discussion
- Study Skills
- Language Focus
- Grammar: Connectives
- Pronunciation
- Important Topics
- Summary

Introduction

- After going through this session, we will learn:
 - What is a Group Discussion?
 - What does Group Discussions evaluate?
 - Methods and procedures in Group Discussions.
 - Group Discussion skills.
 - Language for Group Discussions.
 - Assessment Criteria

Writing Skills

- Tips to Follow during Group Discussion:

- 1) Be assertive but not aggressive
- 2) Ensure you get enough airtime.
- 3) Build up a good knowledge base.

Listening: How to be Successful in a Group Discussion

Check Your Progress

Q. On the basis of GD rules, state whether the following statements are True or False:

- 1) You must contribute towards reaching a consent.
- 2) In order to be heard you must speak for at least 15 minutes.
- 3) A fish market scenario is one where each one tries to talk at the same time and emphasize his/ her point of view.
- 4) If you fail to contribute towards reaching a consent it means you are not very good at team work.

Study Skills

- Group Discussions are often used as part of selection/recruitment procedure by Institutions and Business Organizations.

Study Skills

- Here is a list of some of the abilities that the evaluators look for in participants.
 - Intelligence
 - Depth of understanding
 - Ability to think independently
 - Ability to articulate thoughts
 - Ability to appreciate another's point of view
 - Ability to relate to other people

Study Skills

- Assessment Criteria

- The participants of Group Discussions are evaluated by a panel of experts.
- There are most of the areas on which they would mark participants on their evaluation sheets.

Study Skills

- Areas of Assessment
 - Command over spoken English
 - Knowledge base
 - Convincing power
 - Body Language and Maturity
 - Listening
 - Initiative and Assertiveness

Study Skills

- Beneficial Team Behaviour

- Initiate discussions
- Seek information and opinions
- Suggest procedures for reaching a goal
- Clarify or elaborate ideas
- Summarize
- Be flexible and creative in resolving differences

Language Focus

- Some helpful language for group discussions:
 - Stating an opinion
 - It seems to me...
 - In my view...
 - Interrupting
 - Excuse me, may I ask for a clarification on this...
 - If I may interrupt...

Language Focus

- Handling Interruptions
 - Sorry, please let me finish.....
 - If I may finish what I am saying.....
- Moving the discussion on
 - Can we go on to think about.....
 - I think we should now move on to consider.....

Language Focus

- Expressing Agreement
 - I totally agree
 - I agree entirely
- Expressing disagreement
 - I don't agree at all
 - I totally disagree

Language Focus

- Checking comprehension / reformulating
 - To put that another way...
 - If I follow you correctly...
- Making a suggestion
 - I suggest that....
 - We could.....

Grammar: Connectives

- A connective is a word that joins one part of a text to another.
- Connectives can be conjunctions, prepositions.
- Connectives can be conjunctions
 - For Example: but, when, because

A ↔ B

Important Topics

Listening: How to be Successful in a Group
Discussion

Language Focus

Grammar: Connectives

Do's and don'ts for GDs

Summary

- In this session we learnt:
 - What is a Group Discussion and Its importance
 - Types of Group Discussions
 - Assessment criteria for GDs
 - Language used in GDs
 - Do's and don'ts for GDs
 - How to take part in an actual group discussion

*Thank
You*

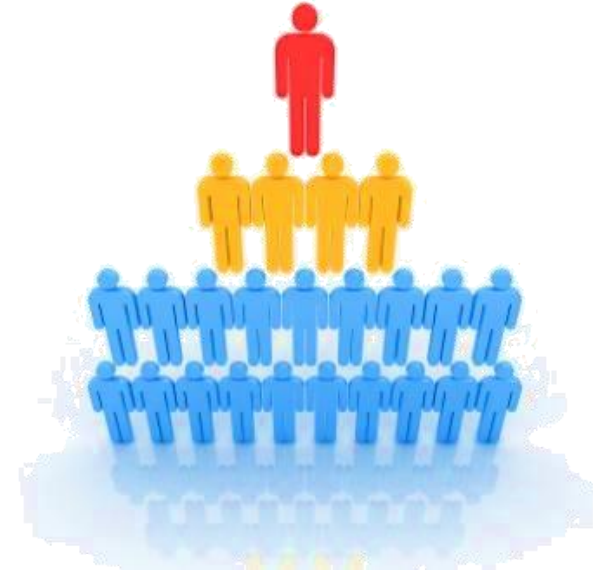

Professional Skills and Ethics

Block-1 Unit-5

Managing Organizational Structure

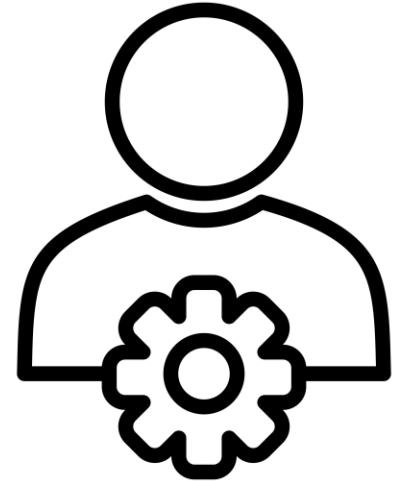

Topics to be Covered

- Introduction
- Reading: The Role of a Manager
- Language Focus: Degree of Probability
- Grammar: Modals
- Writing: Reports
- Important Topics
- Summary

Introduction

- After going through this session, we will learn:
 - Managing people at all levels of organization
 - Motivating teams
 - Dynamics of leadership
 - Managing conflicts
 - Taking and implementing decisions

Reading: The Role of a Manager

- The role of a manager is closely related to the powers that are given at different levels of the organization – top level, middle level and lower level management.
- The function of a manager can be divided into formal and informal aspects.
- Formal functions are to win contracts, delegate duties, express opinion and takes judicious decisions.

Reading: The Role of a Manager

- Informal functions of a manager are related to personal style, ability to influence, concern for colleagues at all levels i.e. – the way a manager interacts with other people.
- A manager leads the team with example and takes the business towards the goals in spite of expected or unexpected changes.

Reading: The Role of a Manager

Check Your Progress

Q1) In how many aspects are the functions of a manager divided?

Ans. _____

Q2) How does a manager lead a team?

Ans. _____

Language Focus: Degree of Probability

- Here are some ways which you could use to get people to do things.
 - Requesting
 - I'd like you to _____ please.
 - Could you _____ please?
 - Granting Permission or refusing
 - Sure, go ahead.
 - By all means

Language Focus: Degree of Probability

- Criticizing/Complaining
 - I'm sorry to have to say this but _____
 - I think you may have forgotten _____
- Appreciating/encouraging
 - Thanks for your co-operation, without it _____
 - I would like to extend my personal appreciation

Language Focus: Degree of Probability

Check Your Progress

Q. Which of the expressions will you use in these situations?

- 1) Voicing your concern for staff conflicts
- 2) Refusing permission of leave.
- 3) Thanking staff for the support.
- 4) Requesting staff for the extra work.
- 5) Negotiating differences.

Grammar: Modals

- The modal verbs are a special group of auxiliary verbs.
- We use them before other verbs to express certain meanings-for example permission, ability, possibility, certainty.
- We list below some of the modals and their functions.
 - Can = (ability; requests; permission)
 - Could = (ability, possibility; polite requests)

Grammar: Modals

- Would = (polite request)
- Will = (offer) (expressing the future)
- Shall = suggestion, offer
- Should = advice
- May = possibility
- Have got to = obligation
- Must = obligation
- Need = necessity

Grammar: Modals

Check Your Progress

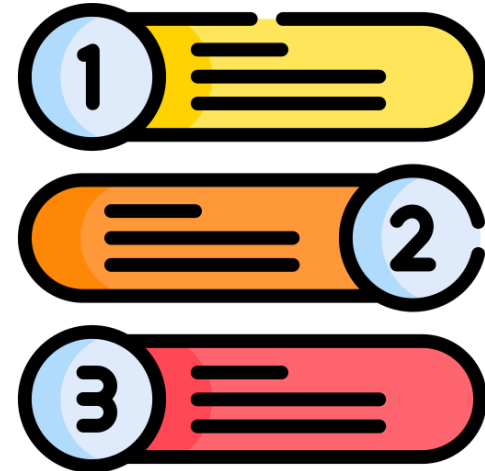

Q. Underline the correct option.

- 1) If you travel to U.K. you can/should/must have a visa.
- 2) You shouldn't/don't have to /couldn't laugh at old people.
- 3) Passengers must/must not/should not smoke in the toilets.
- 4) I think you should/must/may eat less and exercise more.
- 5) You mustn't/may not/needn't tell me if you don't want to.

Writing: Reports

- Steps In Writing Reports

- 1) Investigating the sources of information
- 2) Taking notes
- 3) Interpreting and analyzing the facts
- 4) Writing the outline of the report
- 5) Writing the actual report
- 6) Editing and revising the report.

Writing: Reports

- The Format of the Report

- Most reports have at least three and sometimes four parts.
- These include:
 - Introduction
 - Body
 - Conclusion and
 - Recommendations.

Important Topics

Reading: The Role of a Manager

Grammar: Modals

Writing: Reports

Summary

- In this session we learnt:
 - In our professional life, we often have to work in teams, perhaps take up the leadership of a team.
 - The importance of linguistic competence in managing various levels of the organization, participating as a team member as well as a and a leader.

*Thank
You*

Professional Skills and Ethics

Block-2 Unit-11

Copyright and Plagiarism_Part-2

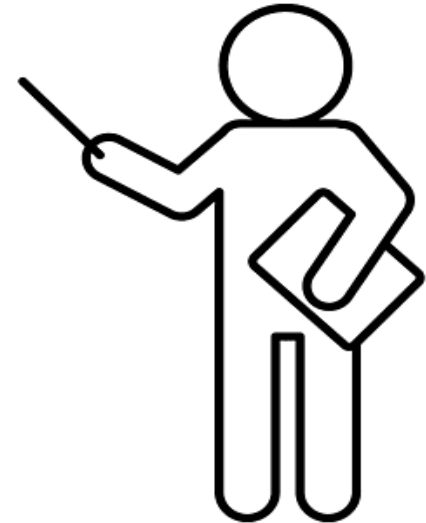

Topics to be Covered

- Introduction
- A Brief History of Copyright
- Evolution of Copyright Law in India
- Important Topics
- Summary

NO
PLAGIARISM

Topics to be Covered

- After going through this session, we will learn:
 - Explain the reasons why it is necessary to have copyright laws
 - Define plagiarism
 - Suggest ways of avoiding plagiarism

Who Owns a Copyright?

- The first owner of a copyright will be the individual person that created a work.
- However, the exclusive rights granted by copyright can be transferred to others, including legal entities such as corporations, publishers or universities.
- Therefore, when we seek copyright permission, it is necessary to understand who has the authority to grant permission.

Who Owns a Copyright?

- It is important to note that the author of a work may not necessarily be the copyright holder.
- As can be seen, ownership and control of rights afforded by copyright laws are complicated and vary by authority.

Economic, Moral and Other Such Rights

- Economic rights: These are rights that allow owners to get financial gain from the use of their works by others.
- Moral rights: These rights permit authors/creators to take certain actions to preserve and protect their work.

Economic, Moral and Other Such Rights

- Different nations define these rights in different ways, but the exclusive rights in most countries include at least the following points:
 - The right to make copies of their works
 - The right to publicly perform and communicate
 - The right to make translations of their works
 - For example, when authors give film rights of their novel to producers, or allow their work to be translated into other languages.

Plagiarism

- However, despite these strict copyright laws, plagiarism is extensive in schools and colleges.
- It is believed that universal access to Internet could be the main reason behind this decline in academic integrity, especially regarding plagiarism.
- We would like our students to lead ethical lives, so let us discuss ways to avoid plagiarism.

Plagiarism

- There are many definitions of what constitutes plagiarism, however, according to research resources at plagiarism.org, some of these are:
 - Submitting someone else's work as your own
 - Copying words or ideas from someone else without giving due credit
 - Failing to put a quote in quotation marks
 - Giving incorrect information about the source of a quotation

Plagiarism

- Plagiarism may not always be intentional – it can be unintentional or accidental and may even involve self-stealing. The broader categories of plagiarism include:
 - Accidental
 - Unintentional
 - Intentional
 - Self plagiarism

Plagiarism

- There is a long list of plagiarism methods commonly in practice. Some of these methods include:
 - Copy-paste
 - Idea plagiarism
 - Paraphrasing/ summarizing
 - Artistic plagiarism
 - Code plagiarism

Copyright vs. Plagiarism

Important Topics

A Brief History of Copyright

Evolution of Copyright
Law in India

Who Owns a Copyright?

Plagiarism

Summary

- In this session we learnt:
 - There is a need for more laws to lessen the subjectivity.
 - Copyright protects us from disciplinary action but also shows our teachers about the research we have conducted on a particular topic.
 - It also enables us to share our readings with our peers.

*Thank
You*

Professional Skills and Ethics

Block-2 Unit-6

Meetings

Topics to be Covered

- Introduction
- Warm up
- Reading: A Successful Meeting
- Language Focus: Opening, Middle and Close
- Grammar: Reporting Verbs
- Writing: Memos
- Important Topics
- Summary

Warm up

- Group Meeting Vs. One to One Meeting
 - Group meetings are generally more formal than one to one meetings.
 - Group meetings are more structured and planned and generally last longer.
 - They involve a large number of people and must be chaired by somebody.

Warm up

- Group Meeting Vs. One to One Meeting
 - Group meetings also follow the procedure of agenda and minutes, which may not be the case with one to one meetings.
 - However, one to one meetings are not chance conversations but meetings with a purpose where certain objectives need to be achieved.

Warm Up

- Group Meeting Vs. One to One Meeting
 - Hence some kind of planning also needs to be done for such meetings to ensure the desired outcome.
 - The language of group meetings is also more formal than one to one meetings.

Reading: A Successful Meeting

- Meetings are central to most organizations for people need to take decisions based on shared information and opinions.
- How well you present yourself and your ideas, and how well you work with other people is crucial to your career.

Reading: A Successful Meeting

- Conducting a Meeting

- Call a meeting only when it is essential and be very clear about its purpose.
- Meetings called on a routine basis tend to lose their point.
- Meetings should be short, not more than an hour. Six is the optimum number of participants for a good working meeting.

Reading: A Successful Meeting

- Attending the Meeting

- Even if the meeting is informal, it is always advisable to prepare a few key points in note form to put across or discuss.
- This inhibits your natural gestures: the eye contact and body language is essential for effective communication.
- Try to offer solutions rather than to complain.

Reading: A Successful Meeting

Check Your Progress

Q1. Why are meetings necessary?

Ans. _____

Q2. What should you do when you decide that a meeting is necessary?

Ans. _____

Language Focus: Opening, Middle and Close

- Opening a Meeting: The 4 step method

Step 1 : Open the meeting. Tell everybody that you are going to begin

Step 2 : Explain the objectives. Tell them why you are having the meeting

Step 3 : Present the agenda. Tell them in order what you are going to discuss.

Step 4 : Get initial contributions. Ask someone to begin the discussion.

Language Focus: Opening, Middle and Close

- Middle and close of a meeting
 - Stating an opinion
 - It seems to me.....
 - In my view.....
 - Asking for an opinion
 - What do you think about.....
 - What's your view?

Logical Connectives

- Interrupting
 - If may I interrupt.....
- Handling Interruptions
 - Yes, go ahead.....
- Moving the discussion on
 - Let's move on to the next.....
- Closing the Meeting
 - So we've decided.....

Grammar: Reporting Verbs

- Reporting what was said
 - When we write minutes of a meeting, it is useful to report the ideas, rather than every sentence. To do this, we need to use a variety of reporting verbs.
 - Suggested, Promised, Mentioned
 - Wondered, Discussed, Decided
 - Agreed, Brought up, Reported
 - Recommended, Explained....

Writing: Memos

- Writing Memo

- A memo is a message in writing sent by one person or department to another ‘within the same business organization’. In short we can say it is an Internal Communication tool.
- For Example: Making announcements, requests, policy statements, notices, reminders, suggestions, acknowledgements, congratulations, informal invitations, thank you note.

Writing: Memos

- Uses of Memo:

- 1) To inform: Announcements, policy statements, notices and reports fall in the category.
- 2) To draw a quick and definite response: Suitably drafted memos can help prompt and definite responses where requests or notices are involved.
- 3) To confirm the decisions/conclusions arrived at a face to face meeting, or in a telephone conversation, and to create a permanent record.

Writing: Memos

Memo is not a report, make it brief and make it look brief.

MEMORANDUM

Date: 19/5

From: MD

To: Managers (Sales, Prod, Fin, Exp., Q.C.)

SUBJECT: Export batch No. DO-9951 (To Indonesia)

Matra Importers, Jakarta, have informed us that the last batch of scooters exported to them has the following problems:

- No rear-view mirrors have been supplied though they were included in the order
- Base plates of 32 scooters were found to be loose
- 32 scooters have been supplied in sports grey colour though this colour was not included in the order
- 16 scooters had no tool kits.

Please come to my office at 11 am tomorrow to discuss the matter. I will expect the concerned managers to bring with them explanations as well as remedies.

Writing: Memos

- To Sum Up:

- 1) Get to your main message directly.
- 2) Cut out every sentence, in fact every word, that does not contribute to your message.
- 3) Make your sentences short and simple.
- 4) Always think of the reader's time.
- 5) State your 'subject' very precisely
- 6) List the points and Pay attention to the Layout.

Important Topics

Language Focus:
Opening, Middle and Close

Grammar: Reporting
Verbs

Writing: Memos

Summary

- In this session we learnt:
 - The difference between formal and informal meetings
 - The language for opening, middle and closing of meetings
 - Reporting verbs in Grammar which are required when we write minutes of meeting.
 - How to write a memo to the staff.

*Thank
You*

Professional Skills and Ethics

Block-2 Unit-7

Presentation Skills-I

Topics to be Covered

- Introduction
- Reading: Presentation Skills
- Grammar: Verbs often Required in Presentations
- Language Focus
- Speaking: Preparing an Outline of a Presentation
- Important Topics
- Summary

Introduction

- After going through this session, we will learn:
 - How to prepare for presentations
 - Hints on effective delivery
 - Preparing outlines of presentations
 - Use of a variety of presentation verbs
 - Use of signaling, signposting and listing techniques
 - The importance of body language in presentations

Reading: Presentation Skills

- After going through this session, we will learn:
 - How to prepare for presentations
 - Hints on effective delivery
 - Preparing outlines of presentations
 - Use of a variety of presentation verbs
 - Use of signaling, signposting and listing techniques
 - The importance of body language in presentations

Reading: Presentation Skills

- Tips on Presentation skills:

- Be enthusiastic
- Adapt to response
- Check room, seating, sound quality, computer
- Vary your tone and pitch, Ensure proper modulation
- Memorize your introduction
- Try to involve the audience
- Use KISS Concept

Reading: Presentation Skills

- Don't put boring tables of figures and long lines of text on the overhead projector
- Welcome questions from your audience
- Know the size and the knowledge level of audience
- Be clear about the purpose
- Give an outline in the beginning
- Rehearse your presentation
- Pay attention to your body language

Grammar: Verbs often Required in Presentations

- Outlining Your Presentation

- It is important to present an outline of your presentation at the very beginning.
- This helps the audience to understand how you have structured your presentation.
- A presentation will be much clearer to the audience if the structure is clearly signaled.

Grammar: Verbs often Required in Presentations

- The use of a variety of presentation verbs can help you to present the outline clearly, specifically and effectively, such as:
 - Talking, discuss, outline,
 - Filling, sharing, bring,
 - highlight, tell, report,
 - Start, make, reporting,
 - Showing, dealing, conclude....

Language Focus

- Signposting/indicating
 - Signposts help to guide the audience through a presentation.
 - These will help you to guide your audience through a presentation.

Language Focus

- Signposting: Look at the phrases given below.
 - to move on
 - to go back to summarize
 - to recap
 - to turn to
 - to digress
 - to conclude
 - to elaborate on

Language Focus

- Some more helpful signposts which you could use in the middle stage of your presentations.
 - Showing steps First of all let's look
 - at.....
 - Then.....
 - Next.....
 - Lastly.....

Language Focus

- Using Visuals

- Visuals like bar graphs, line graphs, pie charts, pictograms, maps, photographs, charts, PowerPoint slides are commonly used in presentations to present statistical information.
- Introducing a visual
 - I'd like to show you.....
 - Have a look at this.....
 - This graph shows / represents.....

Language Focus

- Questions / Discussion

- At the end of a presentation you are required to invite the audience to ask any questions that they may like to ask.
- Inviting questions
 - Are there any questions?
 - If there are any questions I'll be glad to try to answer them.

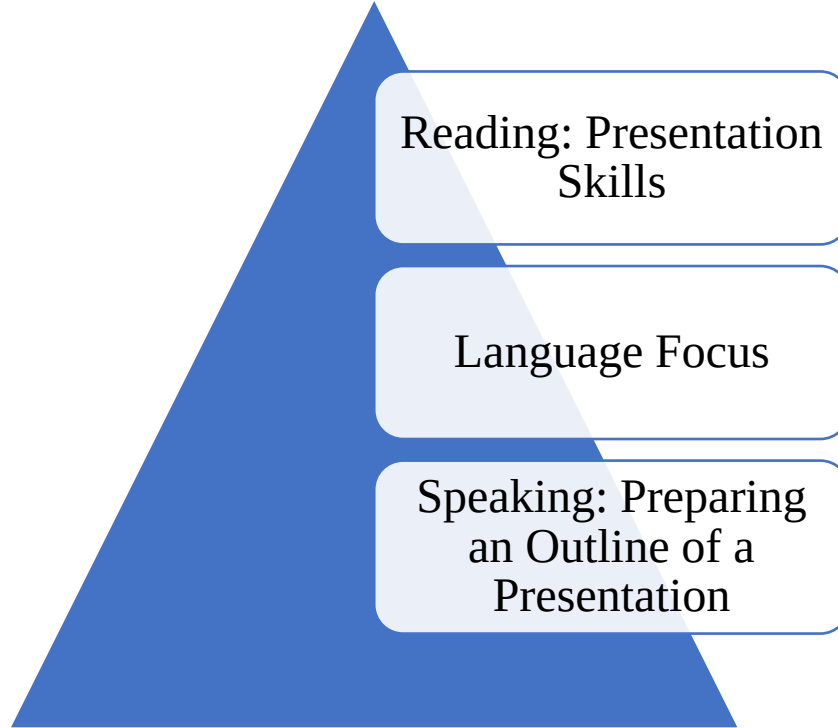

Speaking: Preparing an Outline of a Presentation

Check Your Progress

Q. Prepare an outline of a presentation on any one of the given topics and present it before the mirror.

- 1) Your town / city
- 2) Television as a source of information and entertainment
- 3) Your favourite book / magazine

Important Topics

Summary

- In this session we learnt:
 - How to prepare for presentations
 - How to deliver effective presentations
 - Some linguistic skills for introducing a presentation, signposting, using visuals and concluding
- We have also dwelt on Body language, which is very important when making a Presentation.

*Thank
You*

Professional Skills and Ethics

Block-2 Unit-8

Presentation Skills-II

Topics to be Covered

- Introduction
- Warm up
- Reading: Structure of Presentation
- Study Skills: Visual Aids
- Ending the Presentation
- Grammar: Prepositions
- Speaking
- Important Topics
- Summary

Introduction

- After going through this session, we will learn:
 - Commonly used structures of presentations
 - Using visual aids
 - Language associated with visual aids
 - Summaries and conclusions
 - Question/Answer sessions at the end of the presentations
 - Practicing presentations

Warm Up

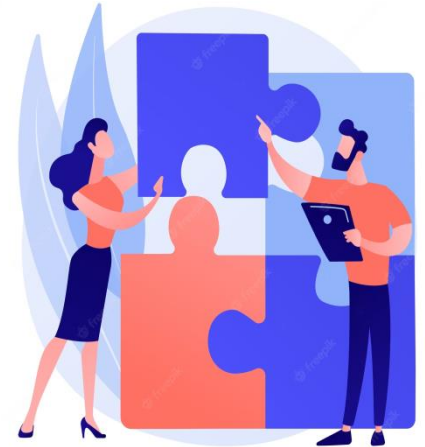

- Engaging the interest of the audience is central to the success of a presentation. Effective presenters recognize that communication is both intellectual and emotional.
- Organizing your ideas is part of the task. The other is to gain and maintain attention.
 - Listeners listen only 25 to 50% of the time.
 - The audience will forgive a lot if the speaker is enthusiastic.

Reading: Structure of Presentation

- Structures of Presentations

- The commonly used structures in presentations are:

- 1) Topical/ Interesting
- 2) Chronological
- 3) Classification
- 4) Problem / Solution
- 5) Cause/Effect can be used for persuasive speeches

Study Skills: Visual Aids

- A variety of visual aids like flip charts, line graphs, bar graphs, pie charts, pictograms, maps, tables, diagrams, photographs, etc. can be used for presentations.
- Visual aids can make a presentation more interesting and easier to understand.
- Visuals should be relevant, appropriate and clear.

Study Skills: Visual Aids

- Systematic language useful for describing visuals.
 - 1) I'd like to show you a pie chart that will give you a clear picture of our sales in the four sectors in the last quarter. As you can see.....
 - 2) Have a look at this table. It shows the number of students enrolled for our different courses in the last five years. As you will notice the demand for our.....

Ending the Presentation

- Summaries and Conclusions

- A summary restates the main points and emphasizes what the audience must remember. It should be brief and must not contain any new information.
- Create an Effective Conclusion. The conclusion may often contain recommendations.

Ending the Presentation

- Questions? Discussion
 - During a presentation you are required to give the audience a chance to ask questions.
- Some helpful clues for handling questions:
 - Try to prepare responses in advance
 - Rehearse answers to difficult questions
 - Listen very carefully
 - Make sure you understand the question

Ending the Presentation

- Give yourself time to think
- Be Honest: if you can't answer the question, say so
- Keep control over the audience, don't allow chaos
- Ensure that you entertain only relevant questions
- keep a lookout for time – don't allow the question /discussion session to linger endlessly
- Be polite: Don't forget to thank the audience at the end

Grammar: Prepositions

- Prepositions play an extremely important role in talking about visuals.
- If you say 'The sales rose to Rs. 300000' instead of saying 'The sales rose by Rs 300000', the entire meaning of your text will be changed.
- So it is very important to use the right prepositions.
- Some examples of prepositions are words like "in," "at," "on," "of," and "to."

Important Topics

Study Skills: Visual Aids

Ending the Presentation

Grammar:
Prepositions

Summary

- In this session we learnt:
 - In the middle of a Presentation, we often need to use visual aids.
 - Study Skills by introducing pie charts, tables and bar graphs.
 - The ways of ending a Presentation with politeness and honesty.
 - Language Focus and Grammar, we have again emphasized on language used in visual aids.

*Thank
You*

Professional Skills and Ethics

Block-2 Unit-9

Developing Interpersonal Skills for A Successful Life at The Workplace_Part-1

Topics to be Covered

- Introduction
- The Changing Scenario in the Twenty-first Century
- What Employers Want
- Qualities of a Star Performer
- Neuro Linguistic Programming (NLP)
- Summary

Introduction

- After going through this session, we will:
 - Understand that the twenty first century has brought drastic changes in our lives.
 - Realize that mere subject expertise is not enough for the success in your professional life.
 - Develop certain personal and social qualities that will enable you to be a star performer and a potential leader at the workplace.

The Changing Scenario in the Twenty-first Century

- We are in the age of the Fourth Industrial Revolution, which is triggered by Artificial Intelligence and other disruptive technologies is making the world unpredictable, chaotic, and ambiguous.
- So, we need to be prepared for this “dynamic” future and a lifelong learners, ever ready to innovate and adapt to the future events.
- We need to also develop the prime qualities which will keep you always employable: critical and reflective thinking and emotional intelligence.

What Employers Want

- Employers are complaining both in the developed and the developing countries that half the people working for them lack communication skills as well as social skills.
- Many of them also lack the motivation to keep learning and updating themselves continuously at their job.
- Now a Days some Soft skills are foremost in Job Market.

What Employers Want

- These qualities are demanded by the employers:
 - Communication skills
 - Adaptability and creative thinking Skills
 - Personal management, confidence, motivation
 - Group and interpersonal effectiveness, teamwork
 - Leadership Skills

What Employers Want

Check your progress

Q. What are the employees deficient in? Why?

Ans. _____

Qualities of a Star Performer

- Research has found that there is a “common core of personal and social abilities” which are required for a person’s success at the workplace.
- As Goleman (2013) says Emotional Intelligence skills are “Cognitive ones” and top performers have both.
- The more complex the job, the more emotional intelligence matters – because a deficiency in these abilities can hinder the use of whatever technical expertise or intellect a person may have”

Qualities of a Star Performer

- Personal Competence

- These competences are about ourselves and are patterns of behavior.
- These have been divided into three states with their respective sub-states. These are
 - Self-awareness,
 - Self-regulation and
 - Motivation.

Qualities of a Star Performer

- Social Competence

- These competencies deal with on how we handle our relationships with others.
- For good relationships we need to have empathy and social skills.
- Empathy makes us aware of others' feelings, needs and concerns; while social skills reveal our adeptness at inducing desirable responses in others.

Neuro Linguistic Programming (NLP)

- Making a success of your working life and achieving your professional goals and dreams depends on more than your qualifications, experience, and job-related skills.
- NLP has influenced approaches to communication, personal development and led to new insights in education, management, sales and marketing.

Neuro Linguistic Programming (NLP)

- What is NLP?
 - ‘Neuro’ refers to the nervous system where our experiences are received and processed through our five senses.
 - ‘Linguistic’ represents the language that we use — both verbal and nonverbal.
 - ‘Programming’ describes training ourselves to think, speak and act in new ways. (Winch, S. 2005)

Summary

- In this session we learnt:
 - Important aspects of corporate success.
 - Professional sphere cannot only be by subject competency and expertise. Much more is required if one is to be a “star performer”.
 - More important is developing “people skills” which will help you cooperate healthily to build understanding and rapport with your colleagues.

*Thank
You*

Professional Skills and Ethics

Block-2 Unit-10

Work Ethics and Social Media Etiquette

Topics to be Covered

- Introduction
- Ethics at the workplace
- A Talk on Ethics
- Ethics and Etiquette on Social Media
- Important Topics
- Summary

Introduction

- After going through this session, we will learn:
 - Understand what work ethics are
 - Understand the importance of following the Code of Conduct at your workplace
 - Develop the right attitude towards your work
 - Discuss examples of undesirable work ethics so as to avoid them

Ethics at the workplace

- Ethics has become an essential workplace function.
- Business ethics refers to the standards for morally right and wrong conduct in business.
- There is an important link between business ethics and business success.
- Therefore, companies these days are insisting on high integrity and honesty for both employees and leaders.

Ethics at the Workplace

- Definition

- A simple definition of 'ethic' would be a set of moral principles. Work ethics would thus mean morality at work.
- For any business to sustain its credibility in the long run, practicing good business ethics is essential.

Ethics at the Workplace

- In business organizations work ethics are set by establishing a Code of Conduct.
- A Code of Conduct is a written collection of the rules, principles, values, behavior expectations, and inter-personal relations that an organization believes in as being fundamental to its successful operation.
- The Code of Conduct serves as a framework for ethical decision-making within an organization.

Ethics at the Workplace

- How is ethics put into practice at the workplace?
 - Work ethics is a universal norm which makes us feel personally accountable and responsible for the work that we do.
 - We can summarize the characteristics of work ethics under three major heads:
 - Interpersonal skills,
 - Initiative, and
 - Being trustworthy.

Ethics at the Workplace

Check your progress

Q. How would you describe ‘work ethics’?

Ans. _____

A Talk on Ethics

- Work Ethics:

- Honesty and reliability
- Keep an open mind
- Honor commitments
- Be Accountable
- Be Respectful
- Be a team player
- Be Punctual

Ethics and Etiquette on Social Media

- Social media has become larger and more accessible thanks to access to mobile applications, with some examples of social media including Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn, Instagram, Pinterest, Reddit, etc..
- People use social media to stay in touch and interact with friends and family.

Ethics and Etiquette on Social Media

- Types of Social Media

- Here are some examples of popular social media:
 - Facebook
 - Wikipedia
 - Twitter
 - LinkedIn
 - Reddit
 - Pinterest

Ethics and Etiquette on Social Media

- Social Media Etiquette

- Social media etiquette refers to the guidelines that companies and individuals use to preserve their reputation online.
- Social etiquette suggests how people behave around others in the real world, social media etiquette revolves around online guideline to follow.

Ethics and Etiquette on Social Media

- Social Medial Etiquette Guidelines are:
 - Post the relevant content keeping in mind, your audience
 - Don't need to share everything in social media
 - Build a reputable image
 - Don't be overly promotional
 - Avoid over-automation
 - Handle your hash tags carefully

Ethics and Etiquette on Social Media

- Don't bad-mouth your competition
- Be authentic and genuine
- Different Account for Business/personal use
- Don't force to be Friends
- Take care of grammar and semantic aspects
- Don't show hatred / post hatred message
- Respect the opinions of others
- Don't spread / share fake news

Ethics and Etiquette on Social Media

- Say NO to cyber-bullying
- Copyright Issues
- Value Privacy

Important Topics

Ethics at the workplace

Ethics and Etiquette on Social Media

Summary

- In this session we learnt:
 - The importance of ethics at the workplace and in your personal life.
 - That Most offices have a code of conduct for employees to follow and employees should adhere to this diligently.
 - The social media, types of social media and etiquette to be followed while using them.

*Thank
You*

Professional Skills and Ethics

Block-2 Unit-9

Developing Interpersonal Skills for A Successful Life at The Workplace_Part-2

Topics to be Covered

- Introduction
- Implementing the Change
- Collaboration and Cooperation
- Important Topics
- Summary

Introduction

- After going through this session, we will:
 - Develop certain personal and social qualities that will enable you to be a star performer and a potential leader at the workplace.
 - Learn how to implement change and also talk about Collaboration and Cooperation.

Implementing the Change

- People are generally courageous, innovative and strong when they are forced to deal with the truly challenging problems.
- It is important to make incremental improvements in the quality of our lives by making small daily changes in our attitude and behavior.
- These positive changes will make us happier people and also encourage us not to be played by little issues at the workplace.

Implementing the Change

- Most of the time we are unable to even recognize our emotion
- People who are unable to know their feelings are also at a terrific disadvantage – they particularly lack the ability to express positive moods like satisfaction, joy, etc., ending up feeling always dissatisfied and unhappy.
- This self-awareness can be cultivated. It can be created by the daily practice of mediation.

Implementing the Change

- The difference between star performers and average performers is that star performers made career choices that allow them to work with their sense of meaning complete or enhanced.
- These performers find the project they worked to be refreshing—something to be enjoyed, while the average performer is merely content to complete the project adequately.

Implementing the Change

- Being a “star performer” we should:
 - “Leave our ego”
 - Also avoid being a “corporate attention-seeker”
 - Take regular breaks from your work
 - Listen to your colleagues and juniors
 - Remember to appreciate the people you work with

Implementing the Change

- Building Your Self-Confidence

- People who have self-confidence have a strong sense of their self-worth and capabilities.
- If we build an indestructible self-confidence it will give us an enormous amount of courage and confidence to face our professional and personal life with a sense of well-being.

Collaboration and Cooperation

- A great deal of social competence which we spoke about earlier is required for skill of cooperation and collaboration.
- What does collaboration and cooperation entail? It of course means working with others towards shared goals.
- What kind of competence does one need for this?

Collaboration and Cooperation

- Some of these factors have been listed below:
 - Finding a balance between the task and the team.
 - Do not to 'hide' our brilliant ideas from the group.
 - Build rapport with our team mates.
 - Build a team identity.

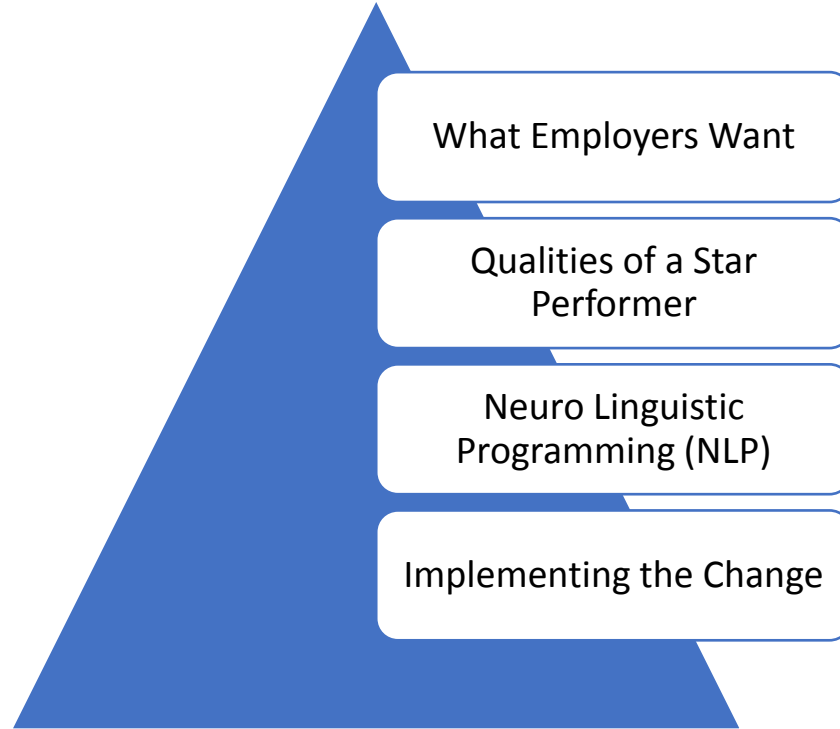

Collaboration and Cooperation

Check your progress

Q. List the four essentials of collaboration and cooperation.

Ans. _____

Important Topics

Summary

- In this session we learnt:
 - The theory of ‘Emotional Intelligence’, It has been well-researched that the most successful people are those who have worked on themselves to be positive people who are sensitive to the concerns of their team members and colleagues and honed their emotional and social intelligence.

*Thank
You*